BIG CHANGES IN PAISLEY HOMES PLAN

—More open space

The Housing Commission will cut back its Paisley Estate project by almost 20 per cent. due to pressure from Altona Council and local organisations.

Announcing modifications to the development proposal recently, commission secretary, Mr. A. L. Bohn, said the population capacity would be reduced from 8100 to 6600 and public open space would be increased from 15.6 acres to 26 acres.

Extra car parking

Car parking space, which was to be available at the rate of one space a dwelling, will be increased to 1.45 spaces a dwelling initially and to 1.67 spaces according to demand.

In a letter to the Board of Works, Mr. Bohn said: "The commission does not agree that the density is excessive or that the effect of noise, odor and the flare of the refinery affect the amenity of the area."

As there appears to be no means of conclusively demonstrating the validity of this aspect of the design premise to the satisfaction of the objectors, and, as the commission desires co-operation with the council in this development it is prepared to comply with the council's requirements to the following extent.

Big variety

Mr. Bohn said the range of two, three and four-storey buildings would give a wide variety of one to four-bedroom accommodation resulting in a more interesting environment.

On frontage

This means that in addition to the reduction in population and increase in car parking the commission is prepared to create additional public space along the Ross Street frontage for recreational facilities to act as a buffer area between the residential area and the industrial zone.

The southern boundary would be heavily planted with trees, Mr. Bohn said.

Subject to Board of Works approval shopping facilities would also be provided.

The commission does not propose to reduce the height of the development as it considers the by-laws limiting heights of development to two storeys for small allotments should not be extended to comprehensive developments like Paisley.

He said the location of the community centre, shopping centre and school facilities would ensure mixing of the surrounding inhabitants with those on the estate.

When the Star went to press, Altona council was due to hold talks with its consultant, Professor Fred Ledgar, on the modifications.

The council has been told by its solicitors that it would not be successful in action for an injunction against the Housing Commission on the grounds that the proposal failed to comply with the requirements of by-law number 15, which places two-storey limits on residential buildings.

Historical group move

Altona Historical Society has been granted use of the room in the homestead previously used as a waiting room by the dental clinic. Under new arrangements made by Altona Council, following a request by the society, the dental clinic will in future use the western foyer.

The Paisley overpass bridge, in Millers Road, Altona, was opened to traffic last Wednesday.

The road-over-rail overpass eliminates a level crossing at which many accidents have occurred in the past.

The $900,000 project was financed by the Country Roads Board and the Victorian Railways.

The acting Transport Minister (Mr. Grant-er), said, landscaping work would continue and he anticipated it being finished in September.

The mayor of Altona (Cr. Harry Weaver) drove the first car over the new bridge.

PICTURED: The overpass seen from McIntosh Road.

Sewerage after 51 years?

After 51 years without sewerage, Altona's Blyth Street Primary School rates a good chance of gaining a place on the Board of Works' sewerage programme for the next financial year.

Subject to approval by the board's sewerage committee, when the programme is submitted and the availability of funds, works should be in progress in 18 months.

Altona council received advice to this effect from the Board of Works recently.

Altona's mayor and Board of Works commissioner, Cr. Harry Weaver told The Star the school had been unsewered since it was built in 1922.

Poor teeth in Altona North

Parents of young children in Altona North are not making enough use of Altona Council's free dental service, according to a report by Altona North Kindergarten directress, Miss R. Tonkin.

Miss Tonkin reported to council last week that, during recent visits by a doctor to the kindergarten, the outstanding feature of the 50 children examined was the poor state of their teeth.

The information was noted by council following a resolution by Cr. Doug Grant that attention be given to promoting the free dental facilities available in the municipality.

Council's free dental clinic operates in the Homestead building, in Queen Street on Mondays and Wednesdays from 9.30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Appointments must be made for examinations which are carried out by staff of the Royal Victorian Dental Hospital.

Barbara-Anne is Miss Apex

Six months of fund raising had its reward for six local girls last Thursday night.

They were guests of honor at an Altona Apex Club ball held at Fiesta, Footscray.

The girls were entrants in the Miss Altona Apex quest which supports the Western Suburbs Spastic Relief.

A panel of three judges selected Miss Barbara-Anne Kersley, of Brooklyn, as Miss Altona Apex.

Barbara-Anne, who wins $250, is automatically entered in the Quest of Quests.

Miss Cheryl Dorgan, of Bell Street, Altona West, became charity queen by raising just over $1000. She also wins $250.

ABC radio personalities, Kevin Arnett and Mary Adams presented prizes and compered a parade by the girls.

Quest judges were Mrs. Val Miller, Mrs. Sheila Foskett and Mr. Lindsay Symons. Mrs. Foskett's husband, and Mr. Symons are both associated with the Quest of Quests.

Chairman of Altona Apex quest committee, Mr. John Grainger told the Star, "I believe Mr.

Foskett has been to every Apex ball held this year around Melbourne, and he claimed ours was the best organised, best presented ball of the season."

Other quest entrants were: Mary, Consy of Kingsville; Cheryl Field, Laverton North; Janice Whitford, Werribee; and Jennifer Winterton, also of Werribee.

A raffle of $860 worth of travel was won by Mr. S. Antonopolous.

Monies raised by the girls and the raffle is still being counted. A cheque will be given to the Western Suburbs Spastic Relief at the Altona Apex change-over night on August 13 at Karingal Golf Club.

'KEEP PACE' MEAT MEN ARE WARNED

Australia's meat processing plants would lose out on the international market unless they developed better techniques and hygiene methods, a top union official warned this week.

The warning came from Jack Sparks, president of the Australian Meat Industry Employees Union, following his return from a 34-nation symposium held in Leningrad, USSR.

After the symposium Mr. Sparks of North Altona, inspected abattoirs in Leningrad, Moscow, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and West Germany.

"I've seen dirtier hospitals than some of the abattoirs I inspected," he said.

"The entire accent is on production for export. And international buyers are starting to take notice."

Mr. Sparks said that one of the major promotional aids for plants in the Socialist Block was the refusal to rest on laurels.

"They continually revise their killing, processing and packaging methods. The same applies to hygiene."

"Nothing is just good enough. And they are moving steadily ahead."

"In Australia it seems the reverse."

Mr. Sparks said Australian firms appeared to need a direction from the Department of Agriculture or a rebuff from overseas buyers before attempting new methods.

He covered over 1000 miles in Czechoslovakia and Hungary and left convinced that both countries were capable of making serious inroads of the international pork and small good markets.

Mr. Sparks said he would list several recommendations in his report to the union executive to be discussed with meat companies.

LINKS

He said he would also send a report to the Minister for Trade, Dr. Jim Cairns.

"Everyplace I visited in the Block displayed an eagerness for closer links with Australia," he said.

"I think there is a serious need for a trade Minister."

"I think there is a serious need for a trade mission to study their methods, particularly those of Hungary."

Mr. Sparks said he also believed that the State Housing Commission would benefit by sending a mission to the USSR.

SYSTEM

"Their method of high-rise living could give a worthwhile direction to the commission."

"Every flat complex is equipped with its own mini-Myers type store in the basement."

"Prices are controlled and the system makes it unnecessary for people to go driving all around the cities."

"This plus the cities transport systems helps reduce pollution and adds to the quality of life."

Bill on organ

Versatile Bill Smith entertained members of Western Suburbs Organ Club last week.

A highlight of his performance was playing blindfolded, through a cloth covering over the keys.

Bill played more than 30 melodies using a Lowrey and Citation. His associate, Graham Kurss, played his own piano arrangement.

OUTREACH

The Assembly of God, Altona, is planning to hold an outreach campaign.

It will be a combined films, singing and coffee evening held at the Scout Hall, Civic Parade, Altona, on July 28, 29, as well as August 3, 4 and 5, starting at 7.30 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Val's Column

Hello girls,

Bronnley introduces a 3000-year-old beauty plan girls.

The mystery and magic of herbs are available in the fragrance of Witch Hazel, Camomile, Melissa and Rosemary, all included in Country Herb Soaps, Talcs, Skin Balm, Bath Foam with oil, shampoo and Bath Crystals.

The packaging is superb, convenient plastic bottles with teak screw-on tops.

Witch Hazel is a winter flowering and flourishes on grey days, tossing its blooms of tassled, twisted richly yellow petals in the cold air.

It's Witch Hazel for a healthy, glowing skin — for it has a marvellous astringency.

Camomile is a herb that would-be blondes have been using for centuries to lighten their hair. Today, a faint summer fragrance of honey and rose scents these products. Camomile is designed to cherish all peaches-and-cream complexions.

Melissa is a herb with a fresh and vital tang — its slightly lemony flavour makes it superbly refreshing and stimulating.

Rosemary is one of the oldest English herbs and is mentioned in an Anglo-Saxon herbal, as long ago as the 11th century.

"Rosemary for Remembrance" wrote Shakespeare: and Rosemary is memorable for its distinctive light and spicy scent which lingers in the air.

Remember Bronnley still present us with their long standing range in English Fern, English Rose, Lemon Verbena, Sandal Wood etc.

Girls! A special has just arrived from Revlon in their treatment range.

Double size bottles of Natural Wonder Astringent Lotion (remember — this used to be named Natural Wonder Total Skin Care Lotion) for oily skin.

And the newer Natural Wonder Toning Lotion for normal skin — and Natural Wonder Soft Facial Cleanser.

Enquire whether these products are suitable for you — you may be able to save half your money.

— Bye.

Tech. gives parents chance to learn

Parents west of the Yarra are about to be taught a few things... but only if they are interested.

The course is: Education today in the western region.

Enrolment day is: Wednesday, August 1, next week.

The place: Footscray Institute of Technology, Balarat Road, Footscray.

Qualification requirements are vague but the main points are: Parent interest in their children's education, their interest in how their children are being taught and their interest in plans for the future training and teaching of children in the western region.

Next Wednesday is "open day" at the Footscray Institute. It will be officially opened by the Minister for Secondary Industry and Overseas Trade, Dr. Jim Cairns, at 10 a.m.

Mr. Bill Williams, spokesman for the Western Region Commission, said this week that the "open day" had special significance because of the Commission's development plans for education in the west.

He said the plans would be implemented in conjunction with the State and Federal Governments, utilising grants from the Commonwealth.

Parents, students and interested citizens would be able to see applied science and engineering students at work, general student activities and completed exhibits.

They could also receive career advice and attend an open day seminar.

The institute has an enrolment of approximately 7000 students — 1600 full or part-time tertiary students, 2000 apprentices, 900 secondary students.

Dr. John Stearne, head of Applied Chemistry said the purpose of the day was to give the people of Melbourne's Western Region an awareness of the only tertiary establishment in their area.

"The theme is student and community involvement," he said.

There would be an open forum on "education in the institute's lecture theatre at 7.30 p.m."

"Open Day" convenor,

Club has been elected as zone 1 chairman. Zone 1 is made up of clubs from Footscray, Williamstown, Werribee and Altona.

Ron Tribe will lead the Lions

Ron Tribe is the new president of the Altona Lions Club.

Vice presidents are Messrs. Jack McGuckian, Alan Burkhitt and Norman Woodcock. Mr. Derek

Craggs was chosen as secretary.

Power tools worth $700 were stolen in a raid on Altona Billiard Tables Pty. Ltd.'s factory last Monday night.

The company is headed by Mr. Frank Lantella, carpenter, of Chambers Road, Altona North.

Its factory is in New Street, Spotswood.

The thieves forced a locked back door; police believe with a wheel brace found nearby.

They stole only power tools, leaving other valuable equipment behind.

Detectives from Footscray CIB are investigating.

DRAMA GROUP

The Altona Drama Group's annual meeting elected the following: president, Mrs. C. Huggins; vice-president, Mr. S. Read; treasurer, Mrs. J. McGuckian; secretary, Mrs. B. Freebody; assistant secretary, Miss B. Williams.

Anyone interested in the group's activities is invited to ring Mrs. Freebody (398 1594).

Doug Grant seeks re-election

Altona councillor Doug Grant will seek re-election next month.

Quest entrant animal lover

Rhonda Clare Nichols, of Civic Parade, Altona and one of the latest entrants in the Miss Footscray Quest, is a lover of animals.

Her white chinchilla cat has won a number of prizes and she regularly takes her two white poodles to the Altona Dog Obedience Club of which she is a member.

In addition she enjoys handicrafts, knitting, crocheting, painting on fabric, golf and reading.

Rhonda was one of the many Miss Footscray Quest entrants who attended the official opening of the quest which is run by the Lions Club of Footscray, at the Footscray Mall on Saturday.

The opening was made by popular teenage idol Jamie Redfern who said that he thought the Footscray girls looked "pretty good."

And he encouraged more to enter the quest.

Girls wishing to enter should contact Mrs. Noreen Lawrence on 37 5421 or write to Box 55, Footscray.

Prizewinners of the Lions Club of Footscray raffle were 1st portable TV set, winning number 2074. D. Barger, 1, Pridham Street, Maidstone. Second, A transistor, 4214, Ivy McCarthy, 128 Balfarat Road, Maidstone.

During Saturday's opening the band Tony and the EJ entertained.

The band donated its services to the Lions Club.

Cr. Grant said he had been requested to nominate by many ratepayers.

He has been a councillor for six years and has lived in the city all of his life.

In a statement to the ratepayers he says: "I believe the present council is very representative of the people and serves the ratepayers well. I am willing to continue this service along with the present council members."

Summing up the work achieved by council Cr. Grant comments on education, social welfare, sporting facilities, finance, homes for the elderly, environment, new developments, roads and streets.

He said that despite suffering a geographical disadvantage, the team spirit of an unsubdivided council of nine had made Altona one of the metropolitan leaders in areas of community achievement and municipal administration.

He said: "Your council continues to support education week, junior council and eight free kindergartens."

"Additional utilisation of the kindergartens by staggered usage of present facilities has increased the total attendance by an extra 50 children."

"Your council has recently appointed one of the permanent officers to principal welfare offices."

"In addition council has now allocated office space for a social worker."

Cr. Grant said there were now 34 sporting bodies and clubs within the city and the council would build a swimming pool complex within the next two years.

In addition the finance committee, of which he is a member, will consider the establishment of a basketball stadium.

Our population growth continues. At present day is in excess of 32,000. Homes are going up at the rate of one a day and last year 704 babies were born.

Figures released by the Bureau of Census and Statistics show that very few people leave this area to reside in other parts and the records of the municipality show that many old residents are coming back to Altona to live.

We are fortunate that our public open space is well in excess of the MMBW, planning standards and even with further population growth will enable the people of Altona to enjoy facilities at a higher standard than available in other built up areas.

Forward planning envisages that the population will grow to 55,000 within the next 5 years, and the council has already advised Commonwealth and State Governments of its forward planning in order that the various Government departments can assist council in the planning and provision of essential community facilities.

In line with council policy to reclaim areas for public open space, the council has acquired at cost of $81,000 — two quarry holes at the intersection of Blackshaws Road with Grieve Parade.

These areas are in close proximity to W.L. J. Crofts Reserve and will give the northern part of the municipality a major sports area, similar to John K. Grant Reserve as existing in the southern part of the municipality.

In addition the Council has already approved the construction to service the Reserve of a major sports and social pavilion to service the requirements of the clubs using that area, and a modern pavilion is to be erected for the Altona Tennis Club.

The council has made a submission to the Government for an allocation of $120,000 for the provision of a hall at Altona West and it is anticipated that the hall would be of such design that it can be used for cultural purposes.

The council has a policy whereby it invests its sinking funds for repayment of loans with the Melbourne and Metropolitan Board of Works and this assists the financing of sewer extensions within the municipality. The MMBW, is currently planning further extension which will bring the sewer as far forward as Millers Road, Seaholme.

With industry paying the cost of sewer extension in Grieve Parade, the council has asked that the design be such that the Wimpey Estate area can be connected to that sewer.

The Board of Works has also advised that it is designing sewer extension to serve pockets in Altona North which are not at present connected to the sewer.

The essence of community living is participation and in Altona we are indeed fortunate that we have so many clubs and organisations which permit citizen activity. Through these clubs and organisations we can all contribute to the provision of those things which make our City of residence a much better place in which to live.

We are fortunate that we have a council which contributes so much to community activity and invites citizen participation in its various functions.

The council likes to see as many citizens as possible attend council meetings and this gives councillors the opportunity to discuss with residents plans for progress and development in the years ahead so that not only we but our children may enjoy the high standards which a progressive and forward thinking community may expect.

Square Dutch case bottle.

Antiques
corner

By J. FERRIS

In my opinion, the collecting of bottles has gained a lot in popularity during the past 10 years.

In Europe and America the enthusiasm for old bottles had supporters longer than in Australia.

I know at least 20 people in Williamstown who collect old bottles. It's certainly an exciting place for this hobby.

The variety of bottles suitable for collection is vast indeed. Did you know that in the 1900s it was estimated that over 46,000 bottles were produced in the world each day.

As in all collecting, it's wise to specialise in your chosen area. Here are a few ideas to try.

- * Nursing bottles
- * Food bottles.
- * Potter bottles (demi-johns, ginger beer and hot water bottles.
- * Household and tootpaste bottles.
- * Cosmetics and perfumes.
- * Medicine-quack.

- * Pharmaceutical-chemist.
- * Figures, novelty bottles and commemorative.
- * Soda-lemonade, aerated waters.
- * Whisky and gin.
- * Beer.
- * Syphons-soda water.
- * Bitters.
- * Ink.

As you can see, the area is limitless.

How and where to find old bottles?

We are fortunate in Williamstown to live in an old area. Our history dates back to the first settlers.

If you are going to put some time into hunting like an archaeologist for your bottles, then you must plan your hunt like an archaeologist.

How to tell a bottle's age:

Mechanical pressing started in the 19th century in Jamestown, Virginia, America, in 1827.

Before this, the neck and lip of a bottle were finished later than the body. The bottom of an older bottle has a blob of rough glass put on later, called a Poult mark.

To become an expert in bottles, one needs a lot of information of this type.

A modern bottle is too smooth Both in its body lines and its pressings it's too perfect in composition compared to older bottles. Embossing can often reveal a bottle's age.

Food bottles:

Sauce bottles could be built into an interesting collection. Rose-lla, Cockatoo and Bogong are a few examples.

Vinegar, salt, salad oil, chutney and cheese spread bottles are other popular examples. In the USA pickle bottles are very popular.

Household:

Examples included here are ink, floor and furniture polish bottles. A few of these are 'Alma Polish', 'Robin-Eucalyptus' and 'Stones Furniture Polish'.

Cosmetics and perfumes:

The beauty and rarity of these make them a keen area for the collector. Blue cosmetics bottles were plentiful in the 19th century.

An area often missed by bottle collectors was the advertising that accompanied the product.

I'm wondering, did they make moustache dyes? What an interesting idea this would be.

Medicines:

Remember the old 'quack' cure 'em alls? These were much used in the 1880-1900 period both here and on the American gold-fields.

Examples of American quack medicines have been found here. Examples are 'The Great Doctor Kilmer'

WHO WILL BEAUTIFY
RAILWAYS LAND?

Members of the Williamstown Conservation and Planning Society offered to clean up railways land in Williamstown.

They also asked a number of recommendations for improving the area.

However, councillors were divided on whose responsibility it was.

Cr. N. Nashford suggested that the railways had a lot of money to spend on its beautification.

Cr. E. Smith said the problem should go to the reserves committee, which would bring back a decent sketch plan to council.

Cr. D. Linke felt it was a waste of time to put the matter on another committee.

Cr. R. Dawes moved it should be taken up by the reserves, committee, saying it would be a good exercise for them.

The motion was carried.

The Williamstown Conservation and Planning Society made the following suggestion for improving the area:

- Fences should be re-sited closer to the track on the land north of the line, between Giffard and Pasco Streets, and Perry Street to near Ferguson Street.
- Proximity of pedestrian underpasses make the areas an extension of the beach picnic areas, encouraging summer visitors to wither come by train, or park their cars further from the beach, relieving congestion on the Esplanade.
- On the land south of the line between Stewart and Foster Streets, for the fence to be re-sited closer to the track, to provide landscaping and car parking.
- On the land bounded by Railway Terrace, Battery Road, Nelson Place and the track, the Railways department may allow an informal access. They would not do any work themselves, but would not object to others doing any cleaning up.

Gin Bottles:

The most collectable items here are the free-blown square case gin bottles. Gin bottles of the 1820-1860 era are favorite among gin bottles. Stoneware gin bottles by 'Bols' of Amsterdam are also much admired.

Whisky:

The number of types and firms which produced whisky bottles is extremely wide.

During the gold rush in Australia, many such bottles were brought here from Ireland, Scotland and Europe.

Those sought after here are Vints Old Irish Whisky, and Johnson's Old Highland Whiskey.

Whisky jars (pottery) were also made. Allman and Co. Irish Malt Whisky was most attractive.

Bitters and beers:

The amount here is huge, so one must specialise.

In the 1800's there were about 250 breweries in operation each with its own special embossed bottle or trade labels.

Bitters although found here, were more popular in England and America.

Examples: Dr. Soule Bitters, New York hop bitters Company and American Embossed Flag.

Aerated waters:

This area is unique because of the different seals used until the invention of the Universal Seal.

In the 1700's the V or pointed ended bottle was used. (Rowlands of Ballarat, Pivot of Kallgoorlie).

In the 1870's the marble necked bottle was used, then came the screw top and the universal crown seal in the 1890's — Rowlands of Ballarat were the first in Australia to use this method.

Next week Mr. Ferris will be writing about small metal statues and figurines. Those who would like to have items assessed could write to Mr. Ferris, c/-The Williamstown Advertiser. An enclosed photograph would help.

PIPELINE

with JOHN BRINDLEY

WORK will start next month on the construction of the first 15 miles of the Yarra-Valley water supply conduit at an estimated cost of $11.6m.

Two special pipelaying machines will be used to lay more than 2,000 pipes weighing up to 12 tons each, between the Silvan Reservoir and the Warburton Highway, Millgrove.

When completed, the 32-mile long conduit will double transfer capacity between the Upper Yarra Reservoir and Silvan Reservoir and will enable maximum utilisation of water harvested from the Upper Yarra and Thomson River catchments, and substantially increase the intake at Cardinia Reservoir.

A $1.3m water management study to determine the most efficient and economical method of treating sewage at the Board's Werribee Farm is to start within the next few months.

It will provide information to enable the design of a treatment plant to meet the future needs of the northern, western and central areas of the metropolis.

AN extensive program to improve the quality of streams throughout the metropolitan area is being undertaken by the Board.

In the northern suburbs, nearly 10 miles of Plenty River and Darebin and Merri Creeks have been improved in the program which started last September and which has so far cost nearly $390,000.

The clean-up is the biggest ever undertaken by the Board and an extent of its magnitude can be gained from the fact that 120 car bodies were removed in one mile of the Darebin Creek.

The Board has received the support of numerous local groups, including school children, but requires the co-operation of the whole community if the improvement achieved is to be maintained.

SPECIAL teams established by the Board last year are continuing a house-to-house survey to ensure that property owners are not discharging stormwater into sewers.

This action overloads sewers during periods of heavy rainfall and can cause flooding of sewers and the escape of diluted sewage to the drainage system.

MEET THE TEACHER A JEWEL OF A SUBJECT

Ruth Lyon, 21, pictured with a copper pendant made by one of the boys in her class. Attractive Ruth has a diploma of Fine Arts and a gift for making beautiful things.

They didn't want to join the art metal class at first, because they thought the subject was "cissy".

Now you can't keep the boys of Williamstown Technical School away from the subject, which is more like a hobby.

Teacher, Miss Ruth Lyon, praises her students lavishly.

"Many of them have a lot of natural ability," she says.

The course involves mainly jewellery making and decorative functional objects. Expensive looking pendants and bracelets come from the work desks of students.

Last year the subject consisted mostly of enamelling — something which should be used with caution, according to Miss Lyon.

"Copper is beautiful by itself, there is no need to smother it in enamel," she said.

Another skill students learn is etching in metal, which is similar to the printing process.

And at the end of the year boys don't just take home a report book — but some pieces of jewellery as well!

By Seaton Beeton

The times when they pop out from behind the fig tree before breakfast are the most testing. Claude, Rags and the Buffalo are the most formidable early birds, but there are others.

Recommended for emergencies like this: (a head) 2 oz. brandy, 1 egg, ½ pt. milk, 1 teaspoon sugar whizzed in blender or beaten, grated nutmeg. Serve with ham, mustard, fresh continental bread if the guests need more nourishment. Afters: fresh, black coffee served with curacao and lemon juice to draw the curtains on a One-act Trauma.

But let's consider a nice, hum-drum breakfast to start Googs' Week. And perish the thought of the Ratrace Rabble you see on TV gobbling up instant oats or crackly pops and swishing down muddled milk, or instant coffee.

For health and palate, start by squeezing enough oranges (yes, fresh ones) for 5 oz. of juice for each one contesting the morning paper. Better, make a "cocktail" with grapefruit juice and/or lemon.

Poached eggs (and in water, not in a cheat cup on top) with middle-rasher bacon (simmered for a moment if too salty) and fried in an iron pan to brown crispness, sauteed potatoes (that is, potatoes previously cooked, sliced and fried in butter or bacon fat to crunchy-brown).

Or, for potatoes, substitute a hash of chopped-up vegetables

(especially cabbage) cooked in the same way. Bubble 'n squeak! With poached egg on top.

And what about (occasionally) spinach with poached egg? One of the few vegetables that recovers from freezing.

Omelettes? Heat the shallow pan used only for omelettes and pancakes. A walnut of butter. Beat two eggs (a person) with a tablespoon of water, Pepper, salt. Pour into the sizzling butter, fiddle around with the edges as they cook and let the gooey stuff trickle on to the exposed bits of pan. Cook so that the mixture is still slightly sloppy on top and brown under. Fold on to hot plates. (To hell with souffles!)

But even better with one of these added: chopped ham; chopped, cooked bacon, onion and potato; chopped, fresh herbs; a sauce of peeled, sugared, seasoned tomatoes cooked in butter. Chopped chives or parsley garnish.

Scrambled? But only like this. Beaten with seasoning, and a tablespoon of cream, cooked in butter, watched with hawk care, stirred so that the mixture just ceases to be runny. Chopped chives in at the last moment.

Boiled? Prick the egg with a needle stuck in a cork, lower it slowly into boiling water and cook for exactly three minutes. If you like an egg cracked, hard boiled or dismayingly runny avoid the above process.

'CROSS READY TO POUNCE IF J.U.S.T. SLIPS

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Footscray J.U.S.T. could lose its State League leadership on Sunday.

J.U.S.T. meets Hellas at Middle Park and if it loses, George Cross will move to the top of the ladder.

The Cross played good soccer last week in drawing 1-1 with Hellas and the same form should give it a win over Austria at Schintler Reserve on Saturday.

Austria, however, had its confidence boosted when it drew 2-2 with German team Hertha '03 on Monday and could prove a tough opponent, as Hans Hinze's great form is offsetting the absence of injured sweeper Jack Goodwin.

J.U.S.T. played brilliantly to beat Hellas 2-0 in the first round, but has reproduced that form only occasionally.

On paper, J.U.S.T. is the stronger team. Hellas has weaknesses in the full-back positions, and this is where Branko Buljevic and Slobodan Zorafa could win the game for J.U.S.T.

Polonia, after its disastrous loss to Slavia last week, takes on a stronger opponent in Juventus at Olympic Park on Sunday.

However, if Juventus' playmaker Keith Webster does not recover in time from his injury, Polonia's defence could manage yet another draw.

Greatest danger will come from Dino DeMarchi, who is in great form.

A loss to Mooroolbark and draws with St. Albans, Ajax and Frankston have erased what looked like an unbeatable lead.

Now Mooroolbark is only one point behind and Sunshine must win all its remaining matches to be sure of promotion.

West almost caused an upset in the first round and could have beaten Sunshine had it not been for the brilliance of goalkeeper Billy Johnson.

This time the match is at Sunshine's home ground, and Sunshine must win at all costs.

The other big match in Division One is between St. Albans and Altona at Churchill Reserve, St. Albans.

The Saints haven't been beaten for seven weeks and during this period they have held leaders Mooroolbark and Sunshine to scoreless draws.

Their record since round 10 is: 0-0 v. Kellor, 2-1 and 3-2 v. Yallourn, 2-0 v. Springvale, 0-0 v. Mooroolbark, 3-1 v. Ringwood and 0-0 v. Sunshine.

Over the corresponding period, Altona has played 0-2 v. Sunshine, 1-1 and 2-2 v. Western Suburbs, 1-1 v. Lions, 0-2 v. Kellor, and 1-0 v. Springvale.

Altona's match against Ringwood was postponed last week because Ringwood's ground was unfit to play on.

On past performances, St. Albans could be favored to win but I'll go for a scoreless draw because I don't think the Saints' forwards are good enough to get past Ian Hynds, Gerry Athelm and Robert Gramsberger.

Ajax which has jumped from 10th to 8th on the ladder following its 2-0 win over Springvale, should be able to beat Ringwood at home on Saturday.

Depending on how Wests fare, Ajax could climb another rung up the ladder.

Yallourn, obviously desperate due to the threat of relegation, has won its past two matches against Lions and Wests — so Kellor City has no easy task in Yallourn on Saturday.

In Second Division Albion Rovers will stay in line for promotion by beating Richmond away.

Germans draw

State League club Kellor Austria played its best soccer for two years in holding touring team Hertha '03 of Berlin to a 2-2 draw at Schintler Reserve, Footscray, yesterday.

The match, played at 3.30 p.m., was watched by no more than 250 people.

Businessmen of the German community will chip in to make up Hertha's undisclosed match fee.

The game was organised after unsuccessful attempts by Hertha to line up a match against Victoria or a Metropolitan League eleven.

Austria started sensationally yesterday, taking a 2-0 lead in 10 minutes with goals by Drago Jurcan and Hans Hinze.

But at half time, Hertha replaced two of its junior players with the more experienced Bernd Osterhorn and Frank Gutenmorgen.

This paid dividends and the team's improvement resulted in two goals by Klaus Koppe — the second scored three minutes from the end.

Austria's display had special merit as it was playing without injured stars Jock Goodwin and Graeme Bibby.

Juergen Wolte made a welcome return after a long absence, but the best player on the field was full-back Hinze.

Elmar Geirsson, who plays for Iceland's national team, couldn't get past this tough defender. Neither could Kjetter Winter when he took over Geirsson's position.

Jim Kondarous and John Truskowski were also outstanding in Austria's team and Koppe, Burkhardt and Groeger were best for Hertha.

Sunshine v. Wests

Can Sunshine still make it? That's the big question in soccer circles.

A loss to Mooroolbark and draws with St. Albans, Ajax and Frankston have erased what looked like an unbeatable lead.

Now Mooroolbark is only one point behind and Sunshine must win all its remaining matches to be sure of promotion.

West almost caused an upset in the first round and could have beaten Sunshine had it not been for the brilliance of goalkeeper Billy Johnson.

Sniffing out the guilty

Increasing smells from meat works in neighboring municipalities were causing concern, the senior health inspector, Mr. John Russell, told last week's meeting of Altona Council.

Complaints received were fully investigated. But in many instances, weather prevented the detection of offending companies, he said.

The situation is being watched closely in liaison with other inspectors of the Western Suburbs Municipal Association Pollution and Environmental Committee.

Cut this out parents

Parents who persist in parking their cars next to pedestrian crossings when picking up their children from school, are disregarding the safety of children of other parents, and the law.

Altona's Chief Inspector Bert Liddell, told this to our representative recently.

Mr. Liddell said the problem was getting so bad that his men would have to blitz offenders.

$100 gift

Altona District Hospital recently received a gift of $100 from Altona Petrochemical Company Ltd. towards the cost of new extensions.

Meet the teacher A JEWEL OF A SUBJECT

They didn't want to join the art metal class at first, because they thought the subject was "cissy".

Now you can't keep the boys of Williamstown Technical School away from the subject, which is more likely hobby.

Teacher, Miss Ruth Lyon, praises her students lavishly.

"Many of them have a lot of natural ability," she says.

The course involves mainly jewellery making and decorative functional objects. Expensive looking pendants and bracelets come from the workdesks of students.

Last year the subject consisted mostly of enamelling — something which should be used with caution, according to Miss Lyons.

"Copper is beautiful by itself, there is no need to smother it in enamel," she said.

Another skill students learn is etching in metal, which is similar to the printing process.

And at the end of the year boys don't just take home a report book — but some pieces of jewellery as well!

Bid to curb inflation

Before any council makes an increase in existing over-award payments, serious consideration should be given to the need to curb inflation, the Municipal Association of Victoria proposed at its last meeting.

It was claimed that there is a tendency for industrial organisations to cite individual councils or groups of councils as a means of substantiating requests for over-award payments.

RON TOPS THE TON

Altona City full-forward Ron Schwabe booted 18 goals against Werribee Central last Saturday.

He has kicked 102 goals this season.

Schwabe's 18-goal effort is a club record and his 102 total is a personal best.

With 26-year-old Schwabe at the helm it was no wonder Altona City won by 33.15.

Scores: Altona City 36.20 d. Werribee Central 3.5.

Goals: Schwabe 18, Roe 4, Boyle, Walgers 3, Hardham 2, Patton, O'Connor, Rosenboom, Valente, Male, Jones.

Best: Schwabe, Horndham, MacLeod, Boyle, Munro.

HIJACK!

Altona City footballer Austin Molly has been hijacked and will be shipped out for Cuba this week.

Altona City will be forced to get along without Austin for more than 10 months.

Austin, 26, has been transferred in his employment.

Improving quality of life in flats

In recent months the mounting discontent by tenants on commission estates has resulted in the mushrooming of a variety of tenants' organisations.

This is a new scene on the inner suburban scene. Although some of the longer established inner suburban organisations do have members who live in the Commission flats and although many matters affecting the lives of the tenants have been the concern of these organisations, to date the daily life issue of the commission tenants have not resulted in organisation of the tenants themselves.

In 1965 the Housing Commission of Victoria announced that future high density estates would consist of high rise flats.

Now, less than 10 years later they are realising that the disadvantages of such housing far outweigh the advantages and it is expected that the tower in Crown Street, Flemington will be the last high rise to be constructed.

Over the past 10 years there have been numerous investigations of life in flats.

The churches, Brotherhood of St. Laurence, service-clubs such as Apex and political parties have all published reports which have drawn attention to the unsatisfactory conditions under which families live on the estates.

Flat life for families has also come in for criticism in England where there are now more than one million people living high above the major cities.

Some of the conclusions of a report prepared by the British Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children are very pertinent to the present position in Victoria.

These quotes are given because they contain some practical ideas for overcoming some of the limitations of high rise dwellings.

"If the needs of young children and their families who are housed in high flats are to be met adequately then special attention must be paid to the improvement of the communal and social aspects of apartment dwelling."

"Problems of isolation and co-operative aid and co-operation action amongst residents need considerable thought and attention toward their solution."

"Administrative problems and extra expenditure which accrue to local authorities by reason of better, family-directed amenities might well be regarded, by both, local and national government, as insurance against social difficulties in the future."

"At present the warden/caretaker of the block is the direct servant of the local authority with only a secondary duty towards tenants."

"We suggest it would be better for him to be envisaged and used primarily as a community worker, acting among and on behalf of the tenants. The community worker, can play a great part in welding together the neighbourhood community."

Over the past 20 years when the Housing Commission set out to redevelop an area it has been unable to involve the local residents in the operation because it has left very few of them.

Now, however, the flats have been the home of many hundreds for a number of years and gradually the tenants themselves are becoming local residents and this feeling of belonging to an area is resulting in greater confidence in themselves and a determination to play a role in improving their environment.

An equally important influence is the growing movement on women's rights.

More than 80 per cent.

of the tenants who attend most of the local tenants' leagues are women.

This is understandable when it is realised that living in the flats is a very high proportion of young women who are the main bread-winners and a large number of elderly women who have been left without partners in their old age.

Thus the leagues are already taking up matters which are dear to the hearts of mothers the world over... the care and well-being of young children and the security and happiness of the elderly.

These leagues have been a long time coming, but now they are here, let us hope they are here to stay. For out of the protests and grievances there are already organisations growing which give dignity to those who participate.

'PATIENCE'

Patience, a mild satire on affection by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be staged by Altona High School.

It will be presented at the Civic Hall, Civic Parade, Altona from Monday, July 30 to Saturday, August 4. Admission will be $1.20 for adults and 60 cents for students.

When is a horse not a horse?

A horse is an animal, unless it's let out on the street, where it promptly becomes a vehicle.

At least that is how it's regarded by the recently prepared by-law of Williamstown Council to control the keeping of animals and poultry.

Cr. Linke considers the by-law inadequate, because he feels it will not allow council to have enough control over horses.

"Under the present law, owners could only be prosecuted by the police under the traffic act."

"The trouble is, we can't get the police to the spot fast enough," Cr. Linke said.

Council has already submitted a draft of the by-law to a solicitor and at its last meeting decided to send it to the Public Health Commission for comments.

The Arnold Palmer Method

"ATHLETE OF THE DECADE"

FINISH IN BALANCE

Study today's illustration of my finish position and note especially how my weight has shifted onto the outside of my left foot and onto my right toe.

I think that the golfer who finishes in such balance can't help but make solid contact with the ball on the vast majority of his shots.

Try swinging to this finish position. Don't think about anything else during your swing. Merely imagine how it will feel to be in this position. See if this doesn't force you to make a better swing over-all.
